CURRENT ACTIVITIES

Flinders Mines is carrying out a resource evaluation drilling program at its Hamersley Iron ore Project in the Pilbara Region of Western Australia. A large exploration target of CID (Channel Iron Deposit) type iron ore has been recognised lying between recent CID discoveries of 1.7 billion tonnes by Fortescue Metals Group (FMG) and 875 million tonnes by Rio Tinto. To date intersections have been of similar grade and width to those encountered in FMG's Serenity iron ore deposit. FMS is working towards defining an Inferred Resource prior to the end of 2008. A large resource of CID iron ore would be a very valuable asset which should provide strong support for higher share prices.

On another front, the company is continuing with its diamond exploration and has commenced an exciting exploration program to search for diamonds on the highly prospective Gawler Craton. In addition, due to the high current price of phosphate, the Company has decided to carry out an exploration program for phosphate on its tenements between Jamestown and Orroroo in South Australia. The Company has 66 kilometres of strike length of poorly explored phosphate-bearing horizons which will be subjected to a soil sampling and drilling program in an attempt to determine if a potentially economic resource is present. It is believed that in the event of a discovery of phosphate or diamonds a large interest in trading of FMS shares would develop.

FMS future activities will consist mainly of the drilling evaluation of its Hamersley iron ore project where metallurgical and pre-feasibility studies may be able to commence in early 2009. In addition the possibilities of a diamond or phosphate discovery will provide additional chances for shareholder wealth creation.

On behalf of the Board I encourage you to consider exercising your options. The Company is enjoying exciting times and is looking forward to a successful future.

Yours Faithfully
